Dear Whom it may concern,

I am writing to apply for the job at your company. I am interested in your Data Science Intern position.

I am pursuing a career path in Deep Learning. Besides the designs of the algorithm, the huge amount of data is vital. I think I am suitable for this position because I have had experience organizing data for personal projects, and have completed courses about designing and managing data management for DL systems.

I might not be the best, but I surely am the most suitable. Having this job does not only benefit you, the employer, but helps me focus my strength, knowledge and energy into profiting the company and improving myself.

I have included my resume. I would be happy if we can meet for an interview and I can have the job. Please contact me through email or phone.

Sincerely,

Huy
